13) Brief Story – What Got You Where You Are Today?

Since I was little, I dreamed of being a model and also becoming a Miss one day. I always saw the contests and fashion shows of different designers and decided that one day I would participate too. Thus, I got to where I am after much enthusiasm and perseverance. It has not been an easy road because of my size. I had many impediments before, but I was very clear that I would pursue my dreams no matter how difficult it was, and here I am willing to continue fighting for my dreams.

14) What Is Your Idea Of Happiness And Success?

My idea of happiness and success is to fulfill all the dreams and goals that I have in life

16) Who Is The Most Inspiring Person In Your Life?

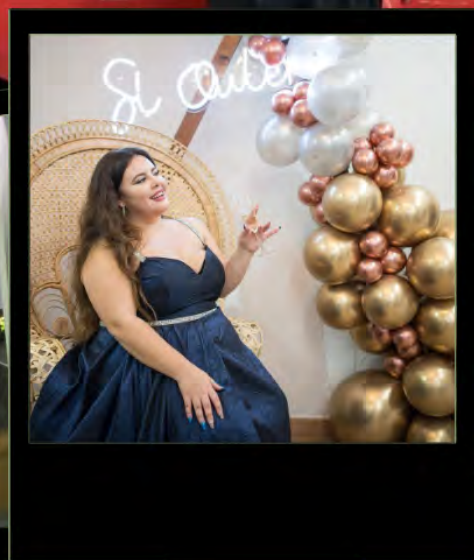

I really don't have only one person who inspires me. I could say that my entire family inspires me the most in my life. My mother, my sister, my father, my grandparents, my uncles, and my cousins have inspired me a lot throughout my life. We have fought a lot to get ahead of the problems that life has thrown our way, and we have never given up.

17) What Has Been Your Biggest Challenge, And How Did You Overcome It?

My biggest challenge was when I had eating disorders (anorexia and bulimia) almost 10 years ago. I had a very bad time but thanks to the help of my family and friends, I got ahead and addressed this challenge. Society should be aware that there are other types of beauty, not just the one that is pre-established.

5) Education

I have completed three qualifications: liberal arts, legal practice, and beauty therapy. I was continuing into law school but put a stop to it as I was sick of doing what society and my community told me would bring me the respect I deserved. I believe a degree should not affect how one deserves to be respected as a human being. My heart has always been with helping those who suffer from mental health or disabilities; however, I got sunk into my society telling me growing up that I was not good enough unless I became a doctor or a lawyer. I have now decided to follow my heart and study counseling.

6) Languages Spoken

English and Arabic

7) Profession

Makeup artist going on disability support working and counseling

8) Goals / Aspirations

My goal is to make an impact and spark change. I want to do this by shedding light and awareness on topics that should be heard but are unspoken of. My goal is to be the voice of many who are oppressed yet have muted voices due to family and society. My goal is to be that example that triggers others to believe they can do it too.

9) Who Is The Most Inspiring Person In Your Life And, How?

My mother, my queen, my everything. Way to describe my mother is a woman made out of steel, yet one of the softest people I know. She is a woman that has been through so many struggles yet stands tall for those around her. A woman that has experienced so much bitterness yet shares nothing but her sweet essence. A woman that has been through war, displacement, a refugee camp for 5 years, and violence, and found a home in a country where she couldn't speak the language or learn as she had 7 children to raise yet still did not give up and raised me and my siblings and got us to where we are today. She set an example. If I had a different role model, then I may not be this resilient. However, I was blessed with her.

10) What Is Your Idea Of Happiness And Success?

My idea of happiness is being content by giving our youth the voice I never had or heard growing up. Happiness and success, to me are bringing happiness to people that struggle to find happiness and success.

11) Imagine That You Have Been Selected As An Influential Person Of The Country For a Week. What Do You Plan To Do For The Country In Just a Week?

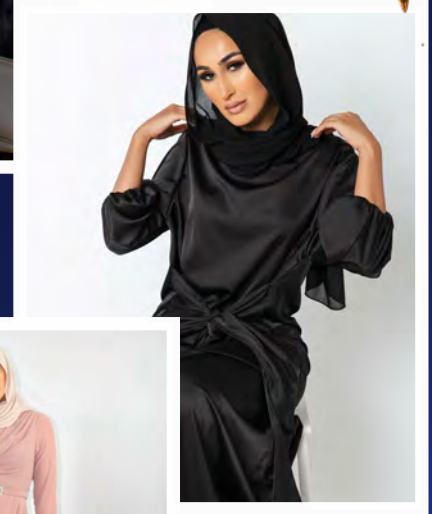

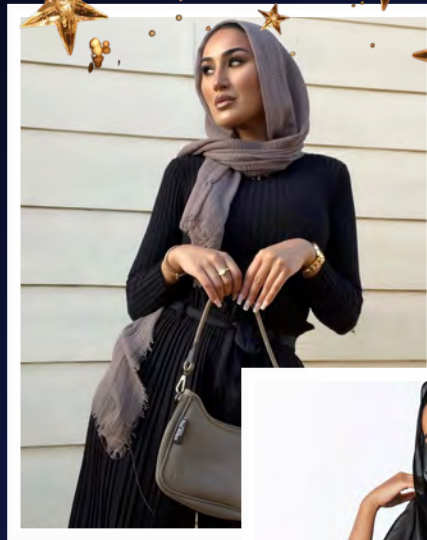

I will plan to do a national tour around primary and secondary schools, sharing the struggles that many go through on a daily basis yet struggle to speak up about or against due to feeling ashamed or the topics that may be looked down upon. Such as mental health and seeking help, speaking up about family violence and sexual assault, drug use, and bullying. Bullying even exists among adults so I find it important to educate children against bullying, so it does not lead into their adulthood.

12) What Got You Where You Are Today?

I am an Australian-hijabi, a mental health and inclusivity activist, and a woman who belongs to this society. I want to break the stereotypical cycle of covered women not being seen as fit to be role models. I want to be the voice of women internationally and show that we belong and deserve to take space, and how much we choose to show or cover should not determine our beauty or capability to represent. We have seen all walks of life represented, but covered women are yet to see representation. I am humbled and grateful for how Australia has embraced me on this journey, showcasing how accepting this country is.

My dream is to take this opportunity further to continue breaking barriers at an international level. I am here to actively challenge stereotypes and barriers. I, more than anyone, know that breaking away from societal expectations is difficult. I went from opening up a beauty business to support myself whilst studying law, a profession that I knew would please those around me and fulfill their ideas of worth to developing a deep passion for the power of helping others through my beauty work. As I conversed with my clients, I realized that we were all struggling with ideas of self-worth and questioning our place in society. I have since left my degree to focus on being a voice for women who are afraid to speak up. An advocate for those, who like me, struggle with mental health, including anxiety and depression. For those who are in situations of family violence and emotional abuse and who experience the burden of society trying to fit them into a stereotypical mould. I want to empower them to speak on issues deemed 'taboo' and demand better for themselves. I want to put a stop to many sufferings by using my voice to motivate others to use their voice and take charge and stand up against stereotypes and oppression. I am here for those who have been made to feel like they don't belong because they look different from the accepted norm. Growing up, I experienced firsthand how it was to be made to feel like my look wasn't the right one. My on-and-off struggles with Bell's Palsy facial paralysis made me a target in the schoolyard, making me question my beauty. Further, as a refugee whose parents escaped persecution and whose start in life was in a tent in a refugee camp,

I want to represent immigrant-born Australians who have found a home in this diverse country. I understand how it feels like to feel you don't belong to either your parent's country or the country you live in. My experiences push me even more to assert that beauty and worth are not determined by what I choose to wear or by narrow beauty standards but by what I stand for. I am determined to stand tall and proud for young people who are still questioning their place. I am here to say that you do belong, this world does have space for you, you are magic, and you are meant to be here. We are all beautiful inspite of our differences. I am proud to represent Australia and to show many that need to see it that, like me you do not have to change a thing to fit in.

13) Hobbies And Fun Facts

My hobbies are very few! Some I have had for a while, and some I have recently developed a connection with after the ongoing lockdowns we have had in Australia. Due to Covid-19, I have had time to discover them. I have always enjoyed exercising, yes, like really enjoyed it, as well as hiking. One I developed during lockdown is painting, which I have found so therapeutic. Fun or not so fun fact is that I was born in a tent, in a refugee camp in the deserts.

6) Education

7) Profession

8) Idea Of Happiness And Success

My idea of happiness and success is when you are in a place in life where you feel that you have achieved what you want. Of course, you will always have new goals you want to achieve. However, genuine happiness and success for me are when I have peace of mind and know that everything will go well even though everything around me is in chaos. Happiness and success are when you put yourself first and know that you deserve everything good and do not tolerate anything or anyone putting you down.

9) Goals / Aspirations

In the future, I dream of helping young girls in countries such as Afghanistan, where women have almost no rights, to get a good education and a good job and thus a better future.

I also hope to start my own health and fitness business. In addition, I like to perform and therefore hope to also be able to work in the entertainment industry in the future.

10) Who Is The Most Inspiring Person In Your Life And How?

My biggest role model is my cousin in Afghanistan Watia. She is a young woman in her twenties who is very passionate about getting an education and being a role model for women in Afghanistan. Afghanistan is a country where women do not have many rights or an opportunity to get an education. At Watia's age, all her sisters had already found a husband, married, and had children. They all dropped out of their study program because they saw no reason to educate themselves because women still do not have the opportunity to get a good job in Afghanistan. Watia is very different from her sisters. She has chosen not to get married at the moment and she does not want to get married until she has completed her education and built a career. Right now she is studying international business, but at the same time, she is also studying journalism. In Afghanistan, it often happens that journalists are killed, and it happens even more often now that the Taliban has taken over. However, my cousin refuses to give up on becoming a journalist. Before the Taliban took over, she was often interviewed. In her interviews, she tells, among other things, how she as a woman has struggled to be able to study two educations at the same time. At the same time, she struggles to normalize that it's okay to be a woman in her twenties who's not married. She is often criticized for not being married, and many men (both classmates and professors) in her education look down on her. However, she does not give up. Even though she is ignored when she reaches out her hand in class and when her male classmates will not listen to what she has to say, she successfully continues her education. She has the highest average in both her educations. She spends almost all of her time reading and doing homework. Of course, she also helps her mother with cooking, cleaning, and looking after her younger siblings. What I admire most about her is how she handles her busy day without going down with stress. She wakes up early in the morning to study, clean, and cook. Next, she goes to school, where she first studies international business and in the afternoon she goes on to another school to study journalism. When she gets home in the evening she does her household chores and then she studies until midnight. Watia is my role model because she never gives up no matter how hard life is. When I feel like giving up, I think of Watia. Watia motivates me to keep fighting for my dreams no matter how hard it is. She is my greatest role model and I am very proud to be able to call her my cousin.

11) Brands / Sponsors That You Are Working With Or Would Like To Work With?

I would like to work with Calvin Klein, Naked, GymShark, and other brands related to fashion, health, and fitness

12) Imagine That You Have Been Selected As An Influential Person Of Country For A Week. What Do You Plan To Do For The Country In Just A Week?

I want to use my title to spread my message that all women are different and that beauty is very subjective. I want to use my title to show that all bodies are different and that it's okay not to live up to today's beauty ideals. I want to make women aware that even I do not live up to all of today's beauty ideals. I want to show them that you do not have to have a perfect body to feel good enough, and just show them how beauty comes from within. I want to show them why beauty not only has something to do with looks but also has something to do with your abilities and talents. As something of the most important, I want to use my title to make women aware that beauty ideals are constantly changing and therefore there is no reason to try to live up to them. It may be that having big breasts and butt is a beauty ideal at the moment, but it has not always been popular. Throughout the 1960s and 1970s, for example, it was ideal to be very slim. I want to use my title to address today's problems such as the "that girl" trend on TikTok. If I get the chance, then I will participate in a reality show where I explain the problems of today's beauty ideals and show how today's influencers edit their images to live up to the beauty ideals, but in reality, none of them look like that. Furthermore, I think that many famous people and influencers, in general, idolize their everyday lives and make it more productive and "beautiful" than it actually is, which means that many people and especially women begin to compare their own lives with the influencer's life. This leads to them feeling compelled to live up to the standards created by the influencers, and if they do not, they feel unproductive or bored, which often leads to depression and anxiety. If I was elected, I would use my title to show people what a realistic everyday life actually looks like, and I would use my title to address this problem of the "ideal everyday life."

I also want to use my title to show that beauty is much more than just one's appearance. Today, there is so much focus on how one should look, which means, for example, that especially young girls spend a lot of time worrying about whether they can afford to buy the right clothes and makeup. This means that many of them get a student job and therefore do not have as much time for school. I want to use my title to raise awareness about this issue and explain to young girls why education is more important than anything else. Of course, I think it's important to dress nicely and buy good makeup, but it does not have to be clothes and makeup for several thousand dollars. Unfortunately, not all young girls understand that the clothing brand and the makeup brand are not as important as the quality. I will use my title to start my business and sell and produce good quality clothes and makeup at a cheap price. Of course, I understand well that especially young girls want to buy "famous" brands and therefore I want to use my platform to spread awareness about my products and reach a wider audience.

13) Brief Story - What Got You Where You Are Today?

When I was younger, I was very insecure about myself. I was bullied at school and always came home with wounds because the other children would hit me. I was always told that I was ugly and unintelligent and that I would never achieve anything in life. Although their words made me insecure, I never gave up. I studied a lot and got into my dream university and into my dream education. I studied day and night and had to drop many events and parties to study. However, I did not just drop all the fun because I needed to study. I spent my free time improving myself. I started exercising and eating healthy. After many years of low self-esteem and the feeling of not being worth anything, I finally built self-confidence. I became Miss Denmark Top 30 Finalist, and I won the award for the best brand ambassador. Being part of Miss Denmark required that I post a lot on social media, which was very uncomfortable for me because I was cyber-bullied in primary school. However, I realized that it does not matter what people write or say about me and what people think of me. In addition, I have also started my own YouTube

Channel where I post workout videos. I always wanted to start a YouTube channel, but I never dared because I was afraid of what people would think of me and I was afraid of being bullied again. However, I gathered the courage and did it, because I realized that people's opinion is just an opinion. As long as I do something that makes me happy, it does not matter what people's opinion of me is.

14) Social Work / Charity (Supported / Would Like To Support)

I have made a fundraiser for children's education in countries in crisis in collaboration with Save the Children Denmark. Personally, I find education very important because your education is crucial to your future. In Denmark, we are so lucky that even without an education, the welfare state will ensure that we still have as good a future as possible, but this is not the case in crisis-stricken countries. In Denmark, we have the opportunity to get an education at any time in life and our economic and social status has no influence on what kind of education we can get. When you live in such an opportunity-filled and peaceful country, you sometimes forget that there are countries affected by crises where children do not have the same opportunities and where their education is crucial for their future. Therefore, it is important to give children in crisis-stricken countries the opportunity to get an education.

Afghanistan, for example, is a country in crisis. My father's part of the family is from Afghanistan, and in Afghanistan, it matters a lot whether a girl goes to school or not. In Afghanistan, the situation is such that not all parents have the opportunity to let their children attend school. Personally, I have some cousins who really want to go to school, but they simply can not, both because women's opportunities are very limited in Afghanistan, and also because not everyone in our family got the money to let their children attend school. It, therefore, warms my heart that Save the Children is an organization whose goal is to help all children to get an education. Save the Children have helped more than 10 million children in Afghanistan to finally get the opportunity to go to school and their contribution has contributed to the fact that today there are 30% more girls in Afghanistan who go to school.

15) Any Personal Message That You Would Like To Share?

You should never put anyone other than yourself first. You should never care about the opinions of people you barely know. If you want to do something then do it! It's better to do it now, though it is out of your comfort zone than to regret it in the future. People may have opinions about it but who cares? An opinion is just an opinion. People's opinions do not define you or your worth.

7) Any Personal Message That You Would Like To Share?

A person's life is never determined by the number of times they have fallen, but by the number of times they have risen and stood up despite the hardships they encountered. Don't be afraid to take risks and transform into a better version of yourself. Remember that no one is ever ready for anything. If you keep on waiting for the right time, it might already be too late. Seize the opportunity even if it means you have to step out of your comfort zone and do something new. The reality is that life isn't easy and it gets harder as you grow older. As someone who is now 21 years old, I learned that to fear change is to fear life itself. For nothing in this world is permanent and everything around us is destined to constantly change and evolve. So keep on learning, keep moving forward, and apply all the lessons you acquired from your experiences to become the person you're meant to be.

8) Who Is The Most Inspiring Person In Your Life And How?

The most inspiring person in my life right now is Pia Wurtzbach, Miss Universe 2015. She is such a down-to-earth person and was able to create a life of her own and for her family. I admire her humility, courage, wisdom, and how she was able to create her own business. Now, she is running a podcast together with her best friends called "Between Us Queens." Pia is the kind of woman I aspire to be one day. A woman who is independent, strong, smart, kind, financially secure, and resourceful. Pia is someone who used her platform even after pageantry to keep on reaching out to people and she remained consistent with her advocacy. Above all, Pia stayed true to who she is despite all the success she can achieve.

9) Education

Currently, I am a 3rd-year undergraduate student at De La Salle University Manila taking up Behavioral Sciences Major in Organizational and Social Systems Development and also pursuing a minor degree in European Studies

10) What Is Your Idea Of Happiness And Success?

Happiness and success are intertwined with each other. We should not measure success based on other people's perceptions and happiness cannot be found anywhere outside oneself. It starts within you, it's a choice. Success is yours to define based on your goals, character, and outlook on the world. If you love what you do and you enjoy the outcome of it, then you are already living a fulfilled life.

 PORTFOLIO

11) Imagine That You Have Been Selected As An Influential Person In Your Country For A Week. What Do You Plan To Do For The Country In Just A Week?

If I were to be selected as an influential person in my country for a week, I would utilize my platform to promote relevant social causes such as climate action and sustainable development. I will collaborate with NGOs, groups, and individuals to further raise public awareness of these matters through campaigns and educational programs. I believe that influence has no time frame and even if the week has passed, I will continue with this initiative because it is my dream to keep on inspiring other people to look after our environment and encourage all walks of life to care for each other. For anything is possible with commitment, consistency, and dedication to your cause.

12) Brief Story – What Got You Where You Are Today?

Beneath the scope of the limelight, triumphs, and smiles, is a story filled with risks, downfalls, sacrifices, and transformation. Several years ago, I was always the shy little girl you would often hear stutter in class because I was too afraid of the idea to speak in front of a crowd. My greatest fear back then was to recite and be called to report simply because of thinking that I was not good enough for the task. I may have enjoyed being into music and the creative arts, but I lacked the confidence to improve my communication skills.

Back when I was in 7th and 8th grade, I experienced bullying and it negatively affected my confidence and how I perceived myself. It has led me to believe other people's opinions more than to listen to my own. This chapter was challenging and I lost count of the number of times I cried in front of a mirror. It is, without a doubt, one of the most difficult chapters of my life.

On the other side of it, I still find ways to feel better through recreational activities and media entertainment. After getting home from school, I would watch Asia's Next Top Model and America's Next Top Model on television. I admired the level of confidence and aura the contestants would showcase in the competition and I sometimes mimicked their poses for fun. The show revived an old interest of mine in modeling and fashion shows. Those who looked down upon me said I couldn't do it and it's impossible. Nonetheless, I persisted and proved to everyone and myself that it is possible.

In December 2013, I walked my very first fashion show under FAD Events Management. A month later after the event, I did my second fashion show for a couture designer named Nikki Veneracion. This was it. I finally took the first step to getting out of my comfort zone without thinking of what other people might think. It didn't matter anymore. From that day on, I swore to myself that I will dedicate each day to self-love, self-care, and self-growth. This marked the beginning of a new chapter that will soon be filled with breakthroughs. After a while, everything got better and I slowly regained my strength and confidence. But I know there's still more to improve and many more aspects to discover.

In the summer of 2016, I joined my very first national pageant entitled Mister and Miss Teen Ambassadors of the Earth Philippines 2016. I was one of the youngest to join out of 45 candidates, at only 15 years old. This is a new avenue to explore but I am motivated and driven to do my best because of my passion for looking after the environment. I may have started as a shy little girl but beneath that persona was someone who dreamed of speaking up one day for the Earth and being the voice of a cause.

Pageantry is a great platform for letting one's voice be heard and it provides an opportunity to reach out to a wide range of people. It was a risk and it was a huge step to submit my application for Teen Earth. Still, if it is for a purpose that will someday benefit the world for the better, then it is a risk worth taking. In the end, I finished as a Top 10 Grand Finalist but I felt grateful to have had the chance to represent my hometown and advocacy in front of my countrymen. What was once my most revered fear, became my biggest goal to pursue to be a spokesperson. For the next 3 years, I took a break from modeling and pageantry. I focused my attention on building my knowledge, experience, and awareness of the different environmental issues occurring worldwide. I joined various non-profit organizations such as the Young Earth Scientists' Society, Greenpeace Philippines, and the Bedan Environmental Philosophers Organization. This also marked the beginning of my involvement with volunteer activities like clean-up events. This moment widened my perspective on life and how relevant it is to know who you are as a person and what you are standing for. In 2019 after my senior high graduation, I returned to the pageant scene and joined Little and Teen Glam Philippines. From then, the rest was history. After winning the title of Miss Teen Glam Philippines 2019, I had the opportunity to represent my country in Little and Teen Glam International 2020. I then became the 2nd title holder of Miss Teen Glam International and the first Filipina to attain the role. This was a proving milestone that taught me a very valuable lesson to never let your past and other people define your future and who you could be. It is you who gets to decide your fate. Never let anyone tell you otherwise. Always hold on to your values and morals because they will always remind you of who you are. What got me to where I am today is the consistent drive to grow as a person and to follow my dreams in life while holding on to a purpose bigger than myself.

Teen Ambassadors Of The Earth Philippines

Teen Ambassadors of the Earth is a national pageant for teens based in the Philippines that started in the year 2009. It advocates for environmental awareness, protection, and conservation through the efforts and examples of the youth. I joined last 2016 to represent my hometown, Taytay, Rizal and it was my very first national pageant at the age of 15 years old. In the end, I placed as a Top 10 Finalist out of 45 candidates nationwide. Even if I lacked the needed training at that time to acquire the title, it was through that experience that I had a realization of what my calling was in life. And that is to be the voice of our environment through my words and deeds.

Glam Pageant Organization

The Glam Pageant Organization (GPO) is an international organization based in the Philippines, Germany, and Australia. Its main headquarters is located in Manila, Philippines, handled by Direk Primo Gusi, Miya Gusi, and Elle Carr. GPO is primarily centered on events management, and fashion shows, and it handles a total of 4 pageants, namely, Miss Glamour Look International, Mister Glam International, Mrs. Glamour Look of the Year International, and Little and Teen Glam International. Each pageant has its own cause to promote. Miss Glamour Look advocates for women empowerment and beauty in diversity, Mister Glam stands for eco-tourism, Mrs. Glamour Look is dedicated to women empowerment, and Little and Teen Glam (LTGI) supports youth empowerment and the promotion of culture and the arts. LTGI is the biggest festival pageant in the world for kids and teens that has 4 title categories: Mini Miss & Mini Mister Glam, Little Miss & Little Mister Glam, Miss Pre-Teen & Mister Pre-Teen Glam, and Miss Teen & Mister Teen Glam.

In May 2019, I joined the Little and Teen Glam Philippines pageant at the age of 18 years old and represented my mother's hometown, Albay, in the Bicol Region. This time, I won the title of Miss Teen Glam Philippines 2019 and was allowed to represent my country in the 2nd edition of Little and Teen Glam International. It was an honor to do so which is why my team and I prepared for the upcoming competition to raise the flag of the Philippines. In the next months that passed after being crowned, we thoroughly planned for my entire wardrobe and all possible outcomes that may happen during the international pageant. I allocated at least 5 hours a day just to study and do research in preparation for the Question and Answer portion. Every weekend I would have my catwalk and Passarella training under the guidance of my former pageant coach, the late Sir Rocky Solero. With the support of my family, friends, and peers, we were able to stay inspired and motivated throughout the planning and execution phase.

In January 2020, the Little and Glam International pageant was held. It was one of the best and most unforgettable milestones of my life. I had the chance to meet and build lasting relationships with my co-candidates. It was also a once-in-a-lifetime experience to meet people from all over the world and celebrate each other's uniqueness and character. Ultimately, I'll never forget the night I was crowned as the first Filipina Miss Teen Glam International 2020 title holder.

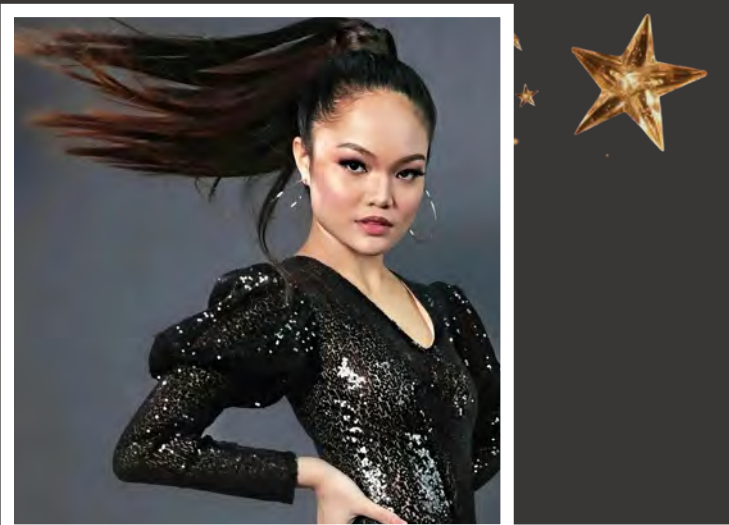

14) Goals & Aspirations

Right now, I hope to continue my part-time career in hosting and modeling. A lifetime goal that I will always pursue is to consistently be active with non-profit organizations, volunteering, and charity work. After I graduate from college, I plan to move out of my hometown and transfer to the outskirts of Metro Manila where I'll be staying in a condominium to get used to the realities of life independently. Then, I intend on taking a Master's Degree in Human Resource Management in Spain. Although, I am open to other options and opportunities anywhere in Europe. After attending the European Higher Education Fair last year, I kept in touch with some universities in Spain, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Finland, and the Netherlands. Concerning that, I would love to learn more languages in the future after taking Spanish such as French, Italian, German, and Dutch. These languages are widely spoken in Central and Southern Europe where I intend to study for a postgraduate degree. The task can be a bit overwhelming at first but it would be nice to be able to effectively communicate with the locals and establish strong communication and friendships with them.

As for my professional goals, after acquiring my master's degree, I hope to look for a job in the field of Human Resources or Corporate Social Responsibility. On a personal level, I would like to someday be financially independent and secure, have my place to call home abroad or local, do solo travels around the world, discover more heritage sites, and do humanitarian work on an international level.

BUENOS AIRES

ARGENTINA

Argentina is a country in the southern half of South America. Argentina covers an area of 2,780,400 km², making it the second-largest country in South America after Brazil, the fourth-largest country in the Americas, and the eighth-largest country in the world.

Buenos Aires is Argentina's cosmopolitan capital city. Its center is the Plaza de Mayo, lined with stately 19th-century buildings including Casa Rosada, the iconic, balconied presidential palace. Other major attractions include Teatro Colón, a grand 1908 opera house with nearly 2,500 seats, and the modern MALBA museum, displaying Latin American art.

Plaza de Mayo

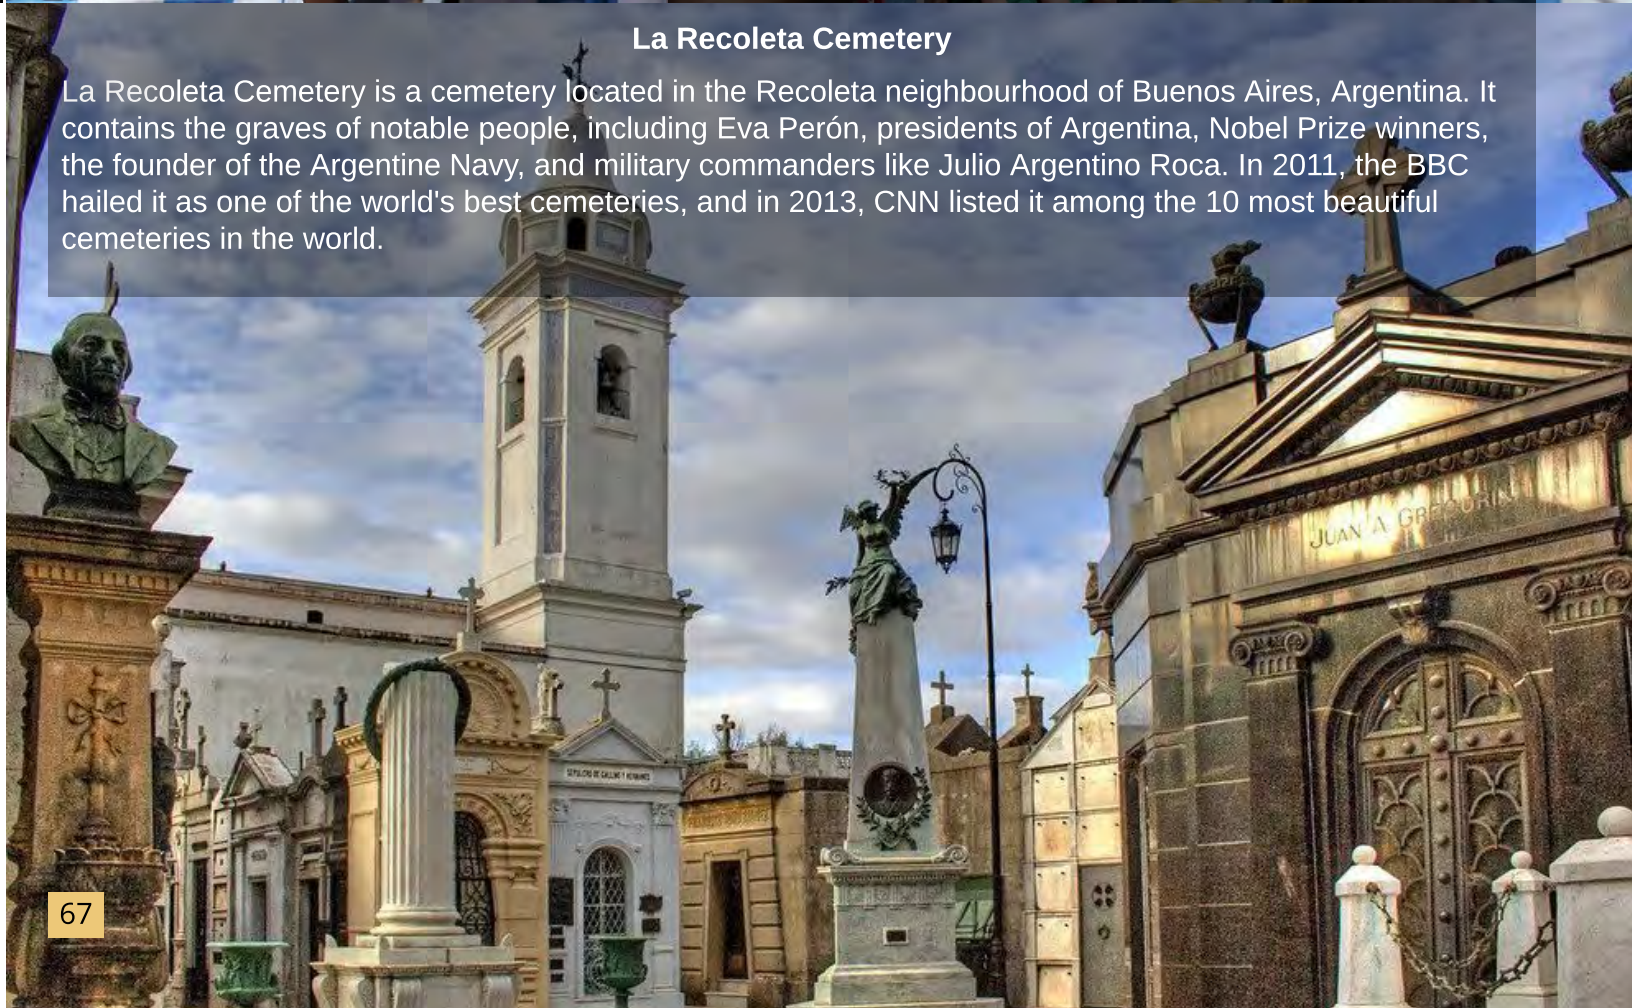

The Plaza de Mayo is a city square and main foundational site of Buenos Aires, Argentina. It was formed in 1884 after the demolition of the Recova building, unifying the city's Plaza Mayor and Plaza de Armas, by that time known as Plaza de la Victoria and Plaza 25 de Mayo, respectively.

Argentina started the new year with a great victory. Argentina are world champions for the third time after a heart-stopping final at FIFA World Cup 2022 in Qatar. Lionel Messi scored twice in the final as he claimed the one trophy missing from his collection in his stellar career. Messi placed Argentina ahead from the penalty shot to become the first man to score in each of the knockout stages since the first round of 16 at Mexico 1986.

La Recoleta Cemetery

La Recoleta Cemetery is a cemetery located in the Recoleta neighbourhood of Buenos Aires, Argentina. It contains the graves of notable people, including Eva Perón, presidents of Argentina, Nobel Prize winners, the founder of the Argentine Navy, and military commanders like Julio Argentino Roca. In 2011, the BBC hailed it as one of the world's best cemeteries, and in 2013, CNN listed it among the 10 most beautiful cemeteries in the world.

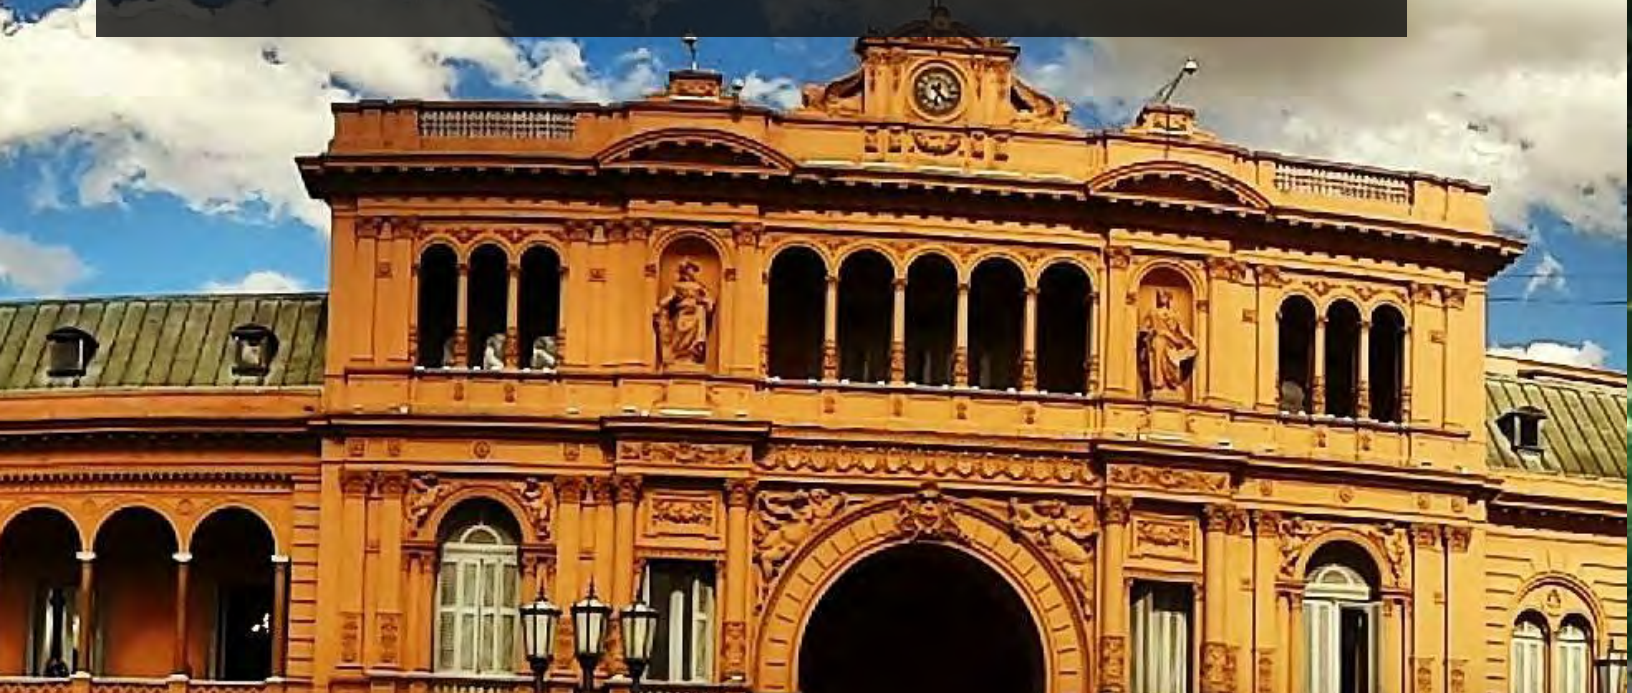

Obelisco de Buenos Aires

The Obelisco de Buenos Aires is a national historic monument and icon of Buenos Aires. Located in the Plaza de la República in the intersection of avenues Corrientes and 9 de Julio, it was erected in 1936 to commemorate the quadricentennial of the first foundation of the city.

Casa Rosada

The Casa Rosada is the office of the president of Argentina. The palatial mansion is known officially as Casa de Gobierno. Normally, the president lives at the Quinta de Olivos, the official residence of the president of Argentina, which is located in Olivos, Greater Buenos Aires. The characteristic color of the Casa Rosada is baby pink, and it is considered as one of the most emblematic buildings in Buenos Aires.

Museo Nacional de Bellas Artes

The Museo Nacional de Bellas Artes is an Argentine art museum in Buenos Aires, located in the Recoleta section of the city. The Museum inaugurated a branch in Neuquén in 2004. The museum hosts works by Goya, Rembrandt, Van Gogh, Rodin, Manet and Chagall among other artists.

Jardín Botánico Carlos Thays

The Buenos Aires Botanical Garden is a botanical garden located in the Palermo neighborhood of Buenos Aires in Argentina. The garden is triangular in shape, and is bounded by Santa Fe Avenue, Las Heras Avenue, and República Árabe Siria Street. The garden, which was declared a national monument in 1996, has a total area of 6.9772 ha (0.026939 sq mi; 17.241 acres), and holds approximately 5,500 species of plants, trees and shrubs, as well as a number of sculptures, monuments, and five greenhouses.

ASTHMA AND ALLERGY TREATMENT

Asthma causes repeated episodes of wheezing, shortness of breath, chest discomfort, and cough. Asthma cannot be cured, but the symptoms can be controlled by taking medication and avoiding triggers that can cause an attack. You should also eliminate triggers in your environment that can make your asthma worse. Because asthma often changes over time, it's important to work with an asthma and allergy doctor to track your signs and symptoms and adjust your treatment as needed.

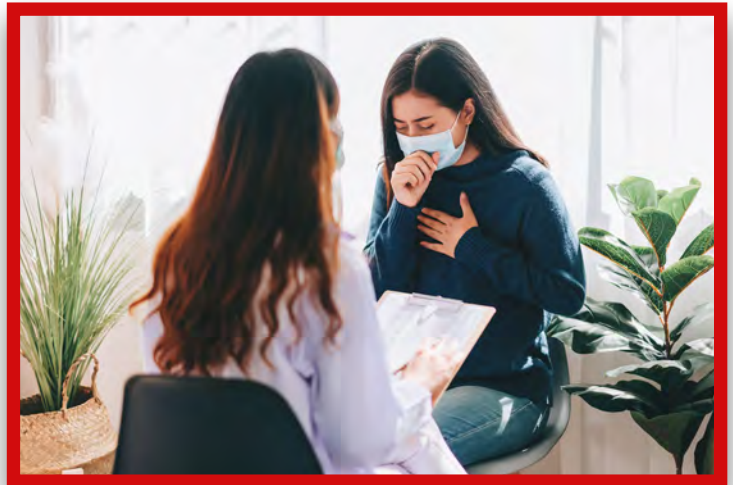

Tips For Asthma Prevention:

- Identify Asthma Triggers
- Stay Away From Allergens
- Avoid Smoke Of Any Kind
- Take Precautions Against Colds
- Allergy-Proof Your Environment
- Get Vaccinated
- Take Regularly Your Medications
- Follow A Plan

If you have persistent coughing or wheezing that lasts for more than a few days or any other signs or symptoms of asthma, then consult with UrgentWay's experienced health care professionals. If you know you have asthma, then keep in contact with your doctor to control the condition. Appropriate long-term control and care helps you feel better from day to day and can prevent a life-threatening asthma attack.

Asthma can be variable. Meet with your Asthma and Allergy doctor regularly to discuss your symptoms and to make needed treatment adjustments. Be prepared for your visit to the doctor so that you can get the most out of your appointment. At each visit, the provider discuss how to avoid and treat an asthma attack. Bring your peak flow meter results and all your medications. Be prepared to talk about your symptoms and how much your asthma has been bothering you. Periodic changes in treatment are often needed to keep asthma under control and prevent asthma attacks.

Be prepared to demonstrate how to use your metered-dose inhaler – Improper use can reduce the effectiveness of an inhaler. Also, prepare a list of questions to help you make the most of your time with the doctor.

8 BEAUTY TIPS

We live in the 21st century, when every person can look as he or she wants. The main goal is to find beauty practices that do not take much time. Here are some simple tips on how to look perfect!

1) Buy a good pillowcase: Silk is the best. Many doctors note that the condition and health of hair and skin depends on the quality of bed linen. For example, cotton absorbs moisture, which means it dries out the skin. In addition, the folds on the pillow remain on the skin of the face, which injures it. Remember, if cotton pillowcases are rarely washed, then the accumulated dirt can cause irritation and pimples.

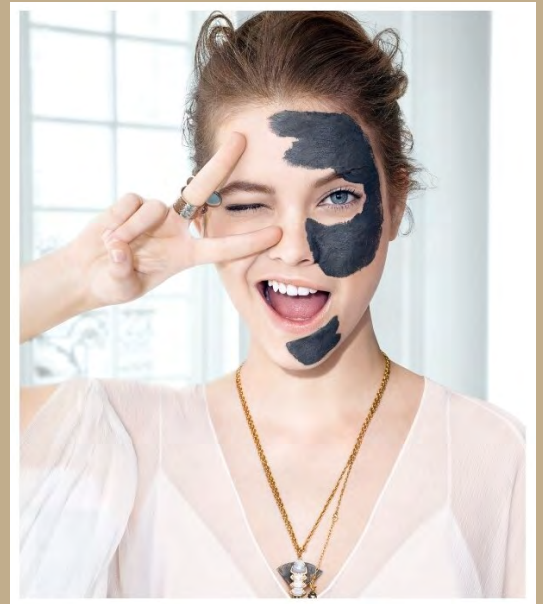

2) Humidifier: The circulation of moist and clean air is the best help for the face. If you're not ready to buy a humidifier right now, then just place deep bowls of warm water around your apartment. This method works especially effectively during the heating season. Moisturize your skin not only with cosmetics, but also with the right air.

3) Using Night Masks / Moisturizing Cream in the mornings and evenings is not always enough. To maintain a normal level of moisture in the dermis, buy a night mask from the pharmacy series. If you do not have enough time for day masks, then a night remedy is the best way out.

4) Do not forget about a healthy lifestyle - exercise and eat less junk food.

5) Buy the right towel for your hair: Beauty junkies have long known that there are no universal towels. There is a towel for face, hair, and body. Buy special microfiber bath products that will reduce drying time and do not harm your hair. Wet strands are very fragile and delicate, so they break in no time. The right towel will dry them gently.

6) Do quick makeup: For light makeup, you do not need to spend half an hour in front of the mirror. Five minutes is enough. First apply your normal skincare routine, then a light moisturizer. The next step is a concealer in the area under the eyes. Now emphasize the eyes with mascara, highlight the eyebrows and refresh the complexion with blush. At the end, you can apply lipstick or caring lip balm.

7) Use wipes to remove makeup: The most serious beauty crime is not removing makeup before bed. If you know that in the evening you will not have the strength, then just buy special make-up remover wipes. The product quickly removes cosmetics, even waterproof ones.

8) Use sunscreen regularly to reduce environmental impact on skin and prolong youthfulness.

FASHION - SPRING 2023

Heavy Metal

Metallics are commonplace in autumn/winter collections, particularly as our social calendars fill up with glamorous after-dark pursuits we want to shine for. For spring, however, a surprisingly fresh range of shimmering gold and silver pieces has transformed the metallic trend into a perennial favorite. In lieu of lightweight lamé, there's an exploration of thicker fabrications such as leather and packed-together sequins. Tory Burch's gold coat is going to be a honey trap for fashion magpies.

Relax Your Denim

Now, for Spring 2023, the best jeans will feature these same design traits. From high-waisted dark-wash flares at Tibi to Bally's effortless double-denim moment complete with floor-grazing lengths, looser-fit denim is resolutely where it's at.

More Than A Corsage

Florals are hardly revolutionary when it comes to the warmer months. At least, they weren't until designers decided to double down on the trend and give it the gusto it has long been craving for with a new take on blooms.

All A Blur

"Not a tie-dye girl yet fed up to the back teeth with ditsy florals? Then a new wave of digitally manipulated, mind-bending blurry prints will provide you with some sweet patterned relief for the coming season—they're certainly my number one choice when it comes to adding a new, unique motif into my heavily printed repertoire," says Hannah Almassi, editor in chief at Who What Wear UK

Blinding Whites

Nothing says springtime like white cotton. Slightly cropped embroidered blouses, loose-fitting shirts and oversized tent dresses really do make up the DNA of most wardrobes in the warmer months.

Motocross Club

Sport holds a huge influence over fashion; you need only think of the tennis skirt or the cricket jumper to confirm this. However, just when we thought we'd seen every trend there was, along comes motocross. It's hard to pinpoint where this aesthetic might have come from; avid Spotify listeners and pop-culture vultures may be familiar with Spanish singer Rosalía's hit album Motomami, which was released in early 2022.
